For a ticket price of $9.99 viewers will have access to four editions of the ANIMATION SHOW OF SHOWS, from the years 2015–2018, comprising a total of 56 short films.

With theaters shuttered due to the COVID-19 virus, this special online presentation of past editions of the ANIMATION SHOW OF SHOWS offers viewers an unprecedented opportunity to experience the joy, creativity and inspiration of the world’s best animated shorts.

More than simply a collection representing the unique visions of leading international artists, the ANIMATION SHOW OF SHOWS is specifically designed to highlight the universality of shared ideals and remind us of the indomitability of the human spirit. Thus, it’s a particularly appropriate form of entertainment for these challenging times, providing welcome relief and reassurance.

The 4 programs include the Oscar nominees “We Can’t Live Without the Cosmos,” “Weekends,” “One Small Step,” “Pearl,” and “World of Tomorrow.” The 2015 program, composed of 11 films, is available with subtitles in Spanish, French, German, Italian, Polish, Russian, Arabic, and Vietnamese. Created by men and women of all ages from 20 different countries, the short films in the ANIMATION SHOW OF SHOWS represent an outpouring of international and intergenerational creativity that underscores that what unites us is much greater than the arbitrary boundaries that divide us.

For 21 years, the ANIMATION SHOW OF SHOWS has been presenting a highly selective, “best of the best” program of new and innovative short films to appreciative audiences at animation studios, schools and, since 2015, theaters around the world. During this time, 41 of the films showcased in the ANIMATION SHOW OF SHOWS went on to receive Academy Award nominations, with 11 films winning the Oscar.
