

Do you have a teenager with disabilities? CORD is offering free career readiness workshops to youths with disabilities between the ages of 14-21 during the month of August. CORD's career readiness workshops provide young adults with the essential skills needed to be successful in today's competitive workforce. Call CORD to learn about exploring career options, choosing a path after high school, dressing for success in the workplace and what to expect while working. All workshops are completely free and will be held at CORD's office in Hyannis. For more information and registration details call CORD today at 508-775-8300 ext. 2122.
